Workplan

The project includes five workshops. Each participating university is going to host a two days' workshop on different stages of the project. The content for each of the three workshops is described below. The workshops are planned to be held physically in each of the five partner universities, as according to our experience, physical meetings are important when building up new cooperation projects, especially when there are new partners involved. It helps partners to gain better understanding of the cultural context of the cooperation, establish a good relationship, as well as to speed up the decision-making process in various stages of the project. In between, we are planning to have one zoom meeting every month.

Workshop 1. Host: European Humanities University (EHU), Vilnius

The first workshop will be a kick-off meeting that will introduce partners to each other and sharing experience. During the meeting, we will set up a more detailed time schedule for the project and discuss the content of the four aims of the project. One focus of the first workshop will be how to build up a gender studies network in Ukraine. The workshop will also serve to identify courses/classes for Zoom-lectures and seminars during the period the project runs.

Workshop 2. Host: Lund University (LU), Lund

During this workshop, we will focus on designing the 7.5 credit course in Gender and society. Our aim is to take decision regarding the content as well as which lectures to record. During the workshop, we will also discuss the design of the platform to develop. The first zoom lectures will be planned more in detail.

Workshop 3. Host: Ilia State University (ISU), Tbilisi

During the workshop, we will start to design the platform. Final decisions regarding the 7.5 credit course will be taken, including which lectures to record and reading material.

Workshop 4. Host: V.N.Karazin Kharkiv National Univesity(KhNU), Kharkiv

The platform will be ready to be published and information about the platform sent to universities in Ukraine as well as to the partner universities outside Ukraine. The platform will have an open access. During the workshop, we will also start to plan the conference in Kyiv. Finally we will work on developing, and include in the platform, a gender studies agenda of war-torn and post-war Ukraine, post-USSR countries and Europe which advocate gender equality and studies of Ukraine.

Workshop 5/Conference . Host: Taras Shevchenko National University of Kiev (TSNUK), Kyiv

This workshop starts with a meeting in the morning the first day and after the meeting a one and a half day conference "Gender and War" starts. We will invite speakers mostly from Ukraine, but the participants in the project also give presentations. The conference will also be a good opportunity for dissemination of the platform in Ukraine.

Between the workshops, we will continuously work with the project: course development, develop the platform, establish a gender studies network etc. See time plan below:
